For tax years before 2018, for higher income taxpayers, the deductibility of personal and dependent exemptions, as well as that of certain itemized deductions, was gradually reduced as adjusted gross income increased. For 2017, the phase-out thresholds for both of these limitations were: Single - $261,500; Married Filing Jointly - $313,800; Married Filing Separately - $156,900; and Head of Household - $287,650.

For 2018 through 2025, the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (TCJA) repealed both the deduction for personal and dependent exemptions as well as the limitation on specified itemized deductions. Unless the law is later changed, both of these deductions will again be allowed, beginning in 2026.
